

verot.net - Web development, design and open source code

home.htm

Welcome to my personal and professional site. I am a freelancer, and this site showcases my web development and design skills. I also publish here some open source code.

What can you find here?

You may be interested in my PHP class.upload. I just released the 0.29 version, with a lot of new features.

Or maybe The CMF project, a content management framework system I am developing and using... The CMF for instance powers this very site.

There is also a rather useful page on how to bypass strict firewalls on public wifi hotspots and restricted networks and a section in which I publish scripts and howtos for Linux.

Need some directions?

You may want to know more about me, my skills, browse my portfolio or read about why you should could hire me.